GOOD FEELING BETWEEN 2 NATIONS RUFFLED

AT LOGGERHEADS IN 2 INTERNATIONAL DISPUTES, STATED

FIRST IN THE NEWCASTLE QUESTIONS, CANCELING EXEQUATERS OF U. S. CONSUL

SECOND CONTROVERSY INVOLVES LOANS MADE BY BRITAIN, IF AMERICAN MONEY USED

(By United Press)
Washington, March 9.—The United States and Great Britain have come to loggerheads on two international disputes, which threaten to mar good feeling between the two nations, following the British debt settlement.

The first question is the Newcastle question, resulting from the action of Great Britain last August in canceling the exequaturs of the American consul, Fred Slater and Russel M. Brooks, at Newcastle, England, on the grounds that they were seeking to divert traffic to American steamship lines.

An investigation of the charges and the British government resulted in this government finding them without foundation.

The second dispute is the controversy between Ambassador Harvey and Earl Balfour as to whether Great Britain loaned money advanced by the United States during the war to other nations.

Escanaba, Mich., March 9.—More contented and apparently resting easier, Miss Evelyn Lyons, 27, whose unheard of temperature of 114 degrees has startled the medical world for the past 20 days, was still registering 114 today.

Dr. Harry J. Defnet, attending physician, who took charge of the case when the girl asked him for medical advice, diagnosed the illness as an attack of peritonitis when she called on him, but refused to make any definite diagnosis as to the causes of the high fever at present.

Miss Lyons' pulse was more normal today and she appeared in better spirits than ever before.

Hundreds of postal cards, letters and telegrams of consolation and advice have been received at the Lyons' home from persons all over the United States.

IS LOCKED IN BANK VAULT, NEARLY DEAD BEFORE RELEASED

PLAYFUL PRANK OF CHUM IMPRISONED PATERSON, N. J. BANK CLERK IN VAULT

IN RELAYS MEN DRILLED THROUGH STEEL AND EVENTUALLY EFFECTED RESCUE

(By United Press)
Paterson, N. J., March 9.—Charles DiGiacomo, 20, bank clerk, rescued unconscious from a time locked safe shortly before last midnight, will live as the result of heroic work by firemen, police, mechanics and associates to get him out of the airtight vault, it was announced at general hospital today.

DiGiacomo, accidentally locked in the vault by a youthful associate, William Templeton, was found near dead, his hands and feet bleeding after the rescuers had worked in relays for four hours, drilling and burning their way through the thick steel roof.

The lad's plight was the result of a joking prank. As he was working near closing time in the vault, Templeton, his chum, called to him to "hurry up or I'll lock you in".

DiGiacomo answered laughingly and Templeton, authorities said, gave the door a slight shove to "scare him". The door moved easier than Templeton thought, and as he heard the time lock click he ran screaming to Garrett Kuliken, cashier. The vault, of highly scientific construction, once locked in the evening could not be opened until 8:30 the next morning.

Jack Kushner, banker, directed the rescue work. He sent in an alarm that brought firemen, policemen, hospital men, a physician and skilled workmen from construction firms and the electric light company.

In relays the men attacked the 18 inch roof of the vault with drills and torches, the latter being abandoned after the first small opening was made to save the air inside. Through this first opening Dr. Erwin Newman placed an oxygen tube inside and manned the oxygen pump.

Kushner dropped a note to the boy telling him he would soon be out, but the lad already was unconscious, near complete suffocation.

As hundreds crowded outside the bank, the rescuers worked desperately. Kushner had an ambulance backed up to the door, the motor running, and the driver at the wheel ready for a dash to the hospital. Another hour's work and he lowered himself into the vault and brought DiGiacomo out.

As the boy's parents heard the cheers of the crowd at the rescue, they collapsed in their home where they had been persuaded to stay. Templeton also collapsed as the rescue neared completion.

DiGiacomo's face was bruised and blackened, his fingernails torn and bleeding as he was carried out, evidence of the terror he had gone through before he lost his senses. His body was bruised, and his breathing hardly discernible with medical instruments.

Stricken Deaf and Dumb
Paterson, New Jersey, March 9.—As a result of being trapped in an airtight vault for nearly five hours, Charles DiGiacomo has been stricken deaf and dumb. Physicians at the general hospital believe this condition is temporary and that he will regain full use of his faculties.

Meanwhile, the lad who was rescued from the vault of the Peoples Park bank last night by men who smashed a hole through the steel and concrete work, is communicating with doctors and nurses by means of scrawled notes. "I can't hear or speak" said one of these notes. "Can't you make them stop that terrible pounding?"

DiGiacomo stared wildly as thoughts of his experience in the bank vault came to him, and he scribbled some notes asking for details of what happened outside while

Kelly, who was on trial yesterday at Benton, Illinois for the murder of Paul Kocurek, handed to authorities a revolver bearing three carved notches in the grip, each supposed to represent a killing.

PRES. HARDING MAY OFFER SAME TO THE NEXT CONGRESS, SAID

PLAYFUL PRANK OF CHUM IMPRISONED PATERSON, N. J. BANK CLERK IN VAULT

IN RELAYS MEN DRILLED THROUGH STEEL AND EVENTUALLY EFFECTED RESCUE

(By United Press)
Vero, Florida, March 9.—President Harding will probably submit a substitute for the defunct ship subsidy plan in the next congress, Chairman Lasker of the United States shipping board stated today.

Although the president hoped to eschew work during his golfing vacation, he and Lasker are at work on details of a scheme to avoid complete and forced liquidation of the merchant marine. Mr. Harding, Lasker said, is not yet ready to announce his new proposal, but probably will do so before his return to Washington.

"The plan decided upon will be one which will not involve the destruction of the American merchant marine," Lasker said.

"I cannot say anything as to details and they are not fully worked out. I believe a plan will be found that will prove practicable and save at least part of the great merchant marine built during the war."

Lasker reiterated the subsidy bill killed by the filibuster will not be submitted to the new congress which is likely to be more hostile than the old.

The new plan probably will be a middle of the road program which will not arouse the congressional objections which killed the subsidy.

The president's house boat party moved down the Indian river toward Palm Beach and Miami today.

A tentative program calls for golfing at the Vero country club in the morning, a motor ride and more golf later this afternoon.

BACKYARD GOSSIP BLAMED FOR ALL OF HER TROUBLES

"THEY ALL TELL SAME THING—COFFIN, HAT AND MUSIC", SAID MRS. KLIMEK

"I NO POISON FRANK, I TRY TO KEEP HIM SAFE", SAID DEFENDANT

(By United Press)
Chicago, March 9.—Back yard gossip of neighbors was blamed today by Mrs. Tillie Klimek, on trial charged with poisoning her third husband, for her difficulties.

Mrs. Klimek, who may not be allowed to tell her story from the witness stand by her attorneys, declared today:

"I no poison Frank. I try to keep him safe."

The accused woman, who faces a demand by prosecutors that she be hung for her alleged arsenic parties, pointed to the evidence presented by the state in the trial as proof of her claim that gossip was responsible for the charges.

In broken English she declared the first four witnesses introduced by the state included her former "boska", her landlady, and three neighbors who held grudges.

"They all tell about the same thing—coffin, hat and music" Mrs. Klimek said in referring to the testimony that she bought a coffin and trimmed her hat in mourning before Frank Kupchek died and after his death played jazz music on her phonograph in the same room with the coffin.

SPANS SWEEP AWAY

Chamberlain, S. D., March 9.—Ice in the Missouri river here is moving down toward the Gulf of Mexico, carrying with it the woodspans of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad company's bridge and leaving 150 foot stretches of open water on both ends of the main bridge, which is of steel.

The engineer of a westbound passenger train discovered the break in the tracks barely in time to bring his train, heavily loaded with passengers to a halt only a few feet from the water's edge.

Half a hundred emigrants bound for the west of the river country with their livestock, farming implements and household goods arrived in Chamberlain to be transferred across the river. They must remain here until the wrecked spans are replaced or make their way to Pierre, S. D., or Sioux City, Iowa, the nearest crossing places.

It will require several weeks to build temporary spans.

SHOT DOWN TODAY

(By United Press)
Zeigler, Illinois, March 9.—John Kelly, Zeigler constable, one of the 73 men indicted for murder in connection with the Herrin massacre and notorious bad man, was shot and instantly killed here last night in an argument he had started over payment of a five dollar debt. Donn Davis, coal miner, was sought as the alleged murderer. Kelly, who was on trial yesterday at Benton, Illinois for the murder of Paul Kocurek, handed to authorities a revolver bearing three carved notches in the grip, each supposed to represent a killing.

IS LOCKED IN BANK
VAULT, NEARLY DEAD
BEFORE RELEASEDPLAYFUL PRANK OF CHUM IM-PRISONED PATERSON, N. J.
BANK CLERK IN VAULTIN RELAYS MEN DRILLED
THROUGH STEEL AND EVENTU-ALLY EFFECTED RESCUE

(By United Press)
Paterson, N. J., March 9.—Charles DiGiacomo, 20, bank clerk, rescued unconscious from a time locked safe shortly before last midnight, will live as the result of heroic work by firemen, police, mechanics and associates to get him out of the airtight vault, it was announced at general hospital today.

DiGiacomo, accidentally locked in the vault by a youthful associate, William Templeton, was found near dead, his hands and feet bleeding after the rescuers had worked in relays for four hours, drilling and burning their way through the thick steel roof.

The lad's plight was the result of a joking prank. As he was working near closing time in the vault, Templeton, his chum, called to him to "hurry up or I'll lock you in". DiGiacomo answered laughingly and Templeton, authorities said, gave the door a slight shove to "scare him". The door moved easier than Templeton thought, and as he heard the time lock click he ran screaming to Garrett Kulken, cashier. The vault, of highly scientific construction, once locked in the evening could not be opened until 8:30 the next morning.

Jack Kushner, banker, directed the rescue work. He sent in an alarm that brought firemen, policemen, hospital men, a physician and skilled workmen from construction firms and the electric light company.

In relays the men attacked the 18 inch roof of the vault with drills and torches, the latter being abandoned after the first small opening was made to save the air inside. Through this first opening Dr. Erwin Newman placed an oxygen tube inside and manned the oxygen pump. Kushner dropped a note to the boy telling him he would soon be out, but the lad already was unconscious, near complete suffocation.

As hundreds crowded outside the bank, the rescuers worked desperately. Kushner had an ambulance backed up to the door, the motor running, and the driver at the wheel ready for a dash to the hospital. Another hour's work and he lowered himself into the vault and brought DiGiacomo out.

As the boy's parents heard the cheers of the crowd at the rescue, they collapsed in their home where they had been persuaded to stay. Templeton also collapsed as the rescue neared completion.

DiGiacomo's face was bruised and blackened, his fingernails torn and bleeding as he was carried out, evidence of the terror he had gone through before he lost his senses. His body was bruised, and his breathing hardly discernible with medical instruments.

Stricken Deaf and Dumb

Paterson, New Jersey, March 9.—As a result of being trapped in an airtight vault for nearly five hours, Charles DiGiacomo has been stricken deaf and dumb. Physicians at the general hospital believe this condition is temporary and that he will regain full use of his faculties.

Meanwhile, the lad who was rescued from the vault of the Peoples Park bank last night by men who smashed a hole through the steel and concrete work, is communicating with doctors and nurses by means of scrawled notes. "I can't hear or speak" said one of these notes. "Can't you make them stop that terrible pounding?"

DiGiacomo stared wildly as thoughts of his experience in the bank vault came to him, and he scribbled some notes asking for details of what happened outside while

MURDERER ENTERTAINS INMATES OF
CONDEMNED CELLS IN STATE PRISON
AT DINNER BEFORE TRAP IS SPRUNG

(By United Press)
Ft. Madison, Iowa, March 9.—A few hours before he went to the gallows to die, Earl Throst, murderer, entertained all the other inmates of the condemned cells in Iowa state prison at a farewell banquet.

"Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die" was the slogan of the prisoners each one of whom is doomed to be hanged, as they gathered around the table.

The guests at this grim feast which started at midnight while guards were preparing the gallows for the host, were Will Olander, Joe Williams, Roy Maupin and Archie Burns.

The dinner was arranged at the express request of Throst who when he was informed that his last wish would be granted, said that he would like to give a party for the "boys." During the dinner as the clock ticked away the minutes, each bringing the host nearer his execution, he presided graciously at the head of the table.

His jokes made the condemned laugh heartily again and again. He betrayed no fear of the fate that was to be his at dawn. When the meal was over, the guests sat around the table for a long time chatting. Then Throst bade them good night and they returned to their cells. At sunrise he walked out into the rain and before a little group of witnesses paid the penalty for murdering Inga Magnusson, a school teacher. Twelve minutes after he mounted the scaffold and while his dinner guests still slept, he was pronounced dead.

he was struggling for breath. He evidently remembers every moment of the torment until he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Two of his finger nails are torn off as a result of his frantic struggles.

(By United Press)

With these checks the Ford Motor company is paying the difference of the amount claimed by the creditors, and the amount they received when the Lincoln motors went into bankruptcy.

Minneapolis, March 9.—"Married and safe."

This was the only message today from Evelyn Garbars, 16, high school dramatist who disappeared from home last night.

She is scheduled to appear as the heroine in a high school play to-night. Police have been unable to locate her.

The message reached her parents by mail in an envelope postmarked Minneapolis. Marriage licenses records in the Twin Cities failed to reveal the girl's name.

PRES. HARDING MAY OFFER SAME TO THE
NEXT CONGRESS, SAIDREPORTED THAT HE AND CHAIR-MAN LASKER ARE WORKING OUT DETAILSNEW MEASURE WILL NOT IN-VOLVE DESTRUCTION OF THE MERCHANT MARINE

(By United Press)
Vero, Florida, March 9.—President Harding will probably submit a substitute for the defunct ship subsidy plan in the next congress, Chairman Lasker of the United States shipping board stated today.

Although the president hoped to eschew work during his golfing vacation, he and Lasker are at work on details of a scheme to avoid complete and forced liquidation of the merchant marine. Mr. Harding, Lasker said, is not yet ready to announce his new proposal, but probably will do so before his return to Washington.

"The plan decided upon will be one which will not involve the destruction of the American merchant marine," Lasker said.

"I cannot say anything as to details and they are not fully worked out. I believe a plan will be found that will prove practicable and save at least part of the great merchant marine built during the war."

Lasker reiterated the subsidy bill killed by the filibuster will not be submitted to the new congress" which is likely to be more hostile than the old."

The new plan probably will be a middle of the road program which will not arouse the congressional objections which killed the subsidy.

The president's house boat party moved down the Indian river toward Palm Beach and Miami today.

A tentative program calls for golfing at the Vero country club in the morning, a motor ride and more golf later this afternoon.

Gallagher, the comedian, now starring in Ziegfeld's "Follies," who with Al Shean, his partner, in laugh provocation, recently bested the Shuberts in the latter's breach of contract suit. Upon starting the work it was found that the bridge was in a worse condition than was anticipated, and therefore considerable more repair work is necessary than was originally planned. Mr. Viner made the trip by automobile but states that the highway is anything but in good condition for motor travel.—Little Falls Daily Transcript.

Hidden qualities largely determine the value and life of a closed car.

Beauty of line and finish and refinements are surface indications and important ones. But your satisfaction with a closed car depends to a great degree upon factors that are unseen—the in-built qualities that come from correct design, use of highest grade materials and careful workmanship.

The 23 Series Studebaker Light-Six Sedan is a quality car. It is built to endure—to give lasting satisfaction.

The Sedan body is substantially built. It will last for years and retain its beauty and comfort. Evidence of its hidden goodness lies in the fact that down under the paint and varnish, the pillars, roof rails and supporting members are made from specially selected ash.

Four wide-opening doors make it easy for all passengers to get in or out without inconvenience to each other. A high-grade heater affords summer warmth on cold, damp days. The wide windows give broad vision in every direction.

Studebaker quality is traditional.

Hidden qualities largely determine the value and life of a closed car.

Beauty of line and finish and refinements are surface indications and important ones. But your satisfaction with a closed car depends to a great degree upon factors that are unseen—the in-built qualities that come from correct design, use of highest grade materials and careful workmanship.

The 23 Series Studebaker Light-Six Sedan is a quality car. It is built to endure—to give lasting satisfaction.

The Sedan body is substantially built. It will last for years and retain its beauty and comfort. Evidence of its hidden goodness lies in the fact that down under the paint and varnish, the pillars, roof rails and supporting members are made from specially selected ash.

Four wide-opening doors make it easy for all passengers to get in or out without inconvenience to each other. A high-grade heater affords summer warmth on cold, damp days. The wide windows give broad vision in every direction.

Studebaker quality is traditional.

MAY HAVE SHOWER

To Furnish New Club Rooms of Brainerd Business & Professional Women's Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Business & Professional Women's club, held Tuesday evening in the rooms of the Brainerd Civic and Commerce Association, was splendidly attended. Business matters of a varied nature were presented and followed with much interest.

A shower to more completely furnish the new club rooms had been suggested, but the president stated that she did not wish the members to feel that they were expected to contribute anything, though small things like dish towels, sofa pillows and so forth, would be very acceptable. It was left to the individual members to give to the club if they wished to, though no one is obligated to do so.

Miss Marie Canan has presented the club with a framed copy of Gainsborough's famous "Blue Boy." This picture is one of the best known of this distinguished painter's works, and the members are very happy to have this splendid copy, which is very appropriately framed.

A wicker fernery has also been given to the club by a member, and Fitzsimmons and Wagner have presented a handsome wicker lamp, matching the other furniture in the rooms. Several members have stated their desire to add to the club rooms, by gifts of books, dishes and so forth.

The house committee for March comprises chairman, Amy Erickson, Eula Michael, Myrtle Johnson, May Hurley and Alma Molgren. The chairman for the entertainment committee for March is Dorothy Smith, and for April Mabel Sheffield. In March the club is planning a sale and in April a movie benefit is contemplated, with attractive numbers by talented members of the organization. It is expected that Miss Tornstrom will coach the girls in a brief play.

Miss Louise Barrett, principal of the Whittier school, was offered honorary membership in the club, the offer being made as a birthday gift. A delightful letter of acceptance was read to the club during the meeting Tuesday evening.

The privilege of using the club rooms on Saturday mornings for one hour for the purpose of religious instruction for the Jewish children of the city was granted to Mrs. Margaret Milkes, who will act as their instructor.

At the close of the meeting the members attended the second performance at the Lyceum, as guests of the manager, W. R. Hiller. The picture was "A Woman's Woman," featuring Mary Alden, and was a most pleasing entertainment. The picture carries a moral that all club women should heed, that the home is the most important thing of all. Club life can never take, nor is it intended that it should, the place of home. However, the stimulation of contact with other minds outside the home has a broadening effect, and makes a woman a more interesting companion than if she adhered only to the routine of household duties. The members of the club are grateful to Mr. Hiller for his courtesy in inviting them to view this picture.

A slide, promoting interest in the coming campaign for subscriptions for the "Independent Woman" magazine, the organ of the National Federation, was a feature of the screen much appreciated by the campaign chairman, Dorothy Carmichael. Three new members were voted members of the club, at Tuesday's meeting, being Miss Loretta Newman secretary of the Child Welfare Board; Miss Elsie Rardin, clerk of the county treasurer's office; Miss Vivian Rardin, bookkeeper of the Brainerd State Bank.

TAKES EXCEPTION, DEFENDS FLAPPERS

Madge Bellamy takes exception to the present outburst of condemnation of the flappers. "They are healthy and wholesome at heart. They go in for outdoor sports, which give a sturdy body and sane mentality," defends Miss Bellamy. "I myself am quite a sport-advocate. I adore tennis and, when I winter in the East spend half my time ice-skating. Let them play at sports. Long may they flap, I say!" Miss Bellamy plays a very modern girl—not necessarily a flapper in the broad sense of the word, but an energetic young person who believes in getting happiness out of life.

A Brainerd business man took exception to one flapper definition which said the flapper wore high beeled shoes. "She does not," he said. "There is a special flapper shoe made minus any high heels."

Tom Wood's Definition
Tom Wood entered this definition of a flapper:
"A flapper is either a young girl with old ideas or an old girl with young ideas."

'BEGINNING CLASS', WHITTIER SCHOOL

In Charge of Misses Vera Waterman and Selina Molstad of Normal Training Class

ONE ALSO AT THE LINCOLN

One for Harrison School Too, Just as Soon as Place Can Be Fitted to Accommodate Same

By W. C. COBB

Superintendent of City Schools
On Tuesday of this week a beginning class in first primary was started at the Whittier school in charge of Miss Vera Waterman and Miss Selina Molstad, directors of the Normal Training Class in the high school.

On Wednesday morning a similar class was started in the new room just completed at the Lincoln building, where children from both the Washington and Lincoln districts will be cared for.

It is the intention to start a similar class very shortly at the Harrison school, just as soon as a place can be fitted up to accommodate them, and the work is being rushed to the utmost.

These classes are in no sense kindergarten classes, as they are provided for children who are six years of age or who will be six within a reasonable length of time, and they will be given regular primary work both morning and afternoon each day. It is expected that parents will plan for regular attendance on the part of these children, as far as their health and the weather condition will permit. An attendance of at least forty days, in order that the school may receive state apportionment for each child, is contemplated and parents are requested to cooperate with the teachers in securing the forty days or more attendance.

If parents are in doubt as to the age limit at which children may be admitted to these classes, they should consult with Miss Waterman or with Miss Selina Molstad or the beginning primary teacher of the school to which the child would naturally belong.

The regular primary teachers will assist with these classes part of the time, in order to keep in the closest touch with the children who will be their pupils next fall.

For further information concerning these classes consult Miss Barret or Miss Mary Walsh at the Whittier, Miss Pinneo of Mrs. Linnehan at the Lincoln, Miss Canniff or Miss Rowe

An absolute age limit cannot be set, as the conditions vary in different sections of the city and for that reason it is necessary to consult the proper teachers at the several schools. STANDARD OIL CO. FLEET OF TRUCKS

Carry Distinction of Being First Motor Cars to Come Through Snowbound Roads

THREE TON TRUCK AND 2 FORDS

Road Very Rough from Little Falls North, Took 7 Hours to Make the Trip

A fleet of Standard Oil Co.'s trucks were driven to Brainerd Thursday from Minneapolis, carrying the distinction of being the first motor cars through the snow-bound roads this season.

There were three trucks in the fleet, the leader a three-ton Wilcox and two one-ton Fords. Good time was made between the cities and Little Falls over the paving, which has been kept open all winter for the bus service.

Between six and seven hours were consumed in coming from Little Falls to Brainerd, it being necessary to drive slow because the road was very rough from the track made by the Holt caterpillar tractor which the county brought up the first of the week. Several bad drifts were encountered between Belle Prairie and Ft. Ripley and again near Lennox. The big truck had no difficulty in negotiating these drifts

for that COUGH KEMP'S BALSAM

and helped the Fords "through in several instances.

The Standard Oil Co., in bringing these three trucks to Brainerd are completing a portion of their plans for making this city one of their chief distributing points for Northern Minnesota. Several more trucks will be added as the spring advances one will be a platform body, the balance will carry large gasoline tanks.

The Wilcox mentioned has a tank capacity of 625 gallons of oil, and weighs when loaded 11,700 pounds. It will be used in supplying the local trade, and the Fords will carry to the nearby stations.

TWO YEARS OF PRESIDENT HARDING

Now that the legislative bodies have taken what is likely to be a long vacation at the conclusion of two years of the Harding administration, the nation is reviewing the work that has been accomplished by the administration, which was made responsible for carrying on the country's business at a time when many adjustments were necessary.

President Harding took the reins at the time when the country was passing from war-time conditions into those that demanded a return to a peace-time basis. The war had inevitably led to the increase of personnel in governmental departments, to an enormous increase in expenditures and to a spend-thrift policy that could not be for long sustained even by a wealthy government. Pledged to a policy of retrenchment, President Harding introduced the budget bureau and attempted in every way to bring sane business methods into governmental departments. Statistics show that he has done well in carrying out his plans, despite the fact that congress has not always listened to the advice of the budget bureau.

President Harding has aimed at cooperation rather than coercion in his dealings with congress; he has not swung the "big stick" as some of his predecessors did. He took office at a time when the people had come to resent his immediate predecessor's efforts to control not only the executive but also the legislative branches of the government. The president's experience in the senate probably helped him to work with the legislative branch of the government. And, despite the few instances in which congress has gone against the best judgment of the chief executive, generally he has had the support of congress in the recommendations that he has made.

It has been necessary for the president to veto certain measures that congress passed, and his vetoes have been dictated by an intelligent and just appraisal of the certain effect of the measures. The president proved by his veto that he is unwilling to do the bidding of congress unless the legislative body finds the means for discharging the obligations which it places upon the treasury.

President Harding has been finding his feet on ground more or less treacherous and it is reasonable to believe that the next two years will find him taking a stronger stand for those things that he believes ought to be done if this nation is to realize its own advantage and offer its meed of service to a distracted world. But it is not likely that the president will attempt to dominate the legislative branch of the government; he is more likely to invite the public to wield its influence upon congress than he is to attempt to enforce decisions by waving the "big stick" that his high office places in his hands. If the president leads the people, the people will attend to congress, and the country will be saved from a repetition of a deadlock between the legislative and executive branches of the government.

COUNTY CHILD WELFARE BOARDS OPPOSED

The bill under senate file, No. 678, which proposes to do away with the County Child Welfare boards in Minnesota, should be quickly and completely killed. Its killing should be so thoroughly done that no one will think of attempting to restore it for some time to come.

It is almost unthinkable that after the good work that has been done in the state by the County Child Welfare boards under the direction of Mr. Hodson, whose work was so highly useful and remedial that he was called to a place of larger responsibility, the legislature of Minnesota will vote to discontinue the work of the county boards.

The attitude that people in this country are taking to work such as that of the Child Welfare boards adds to the surprise of social workers that that state should even consider dropping this branch of social activity. Through the Sheppard-Towner bill, the federal government made provision for helping the welfare boards of the counties in the several states to carry on their work, by granting federal support to states that themselves sought to sustain it. The merger of the American Child Hygiene association and the Child Health Organization of America in the American Child Health association under the presidency of Herbert Hoover shows that national leaders are intent upon forwarding such work at the time when certain legislators in Minnesota would have it discontinued.

In view of the fact that "for the last seven years an average of one baby out of every eleven born alive was lost," and that in the United States "about two hundred thousand (babies) die before they are one year old," the work of the Child Welfare boards should not be discontinued but pursued with more enthusiasm and efficiency. Our legislators are well-advised in attempting to reduce expenditures, but those who would seek such reductions by robbing children of their right to be properly nursed are on the wrong track. Dollars that are invested in protecting the lives of children are well invested; for healthy lives are a state's first and best asset. This bill ought to be buried quickly and deeply.

REDUCING RATES AND MERGING RAILROADS

The railroads of the nation are working under a handicap through the kindly interest that the country is taking in them. Various boards that determine what the railroads may or may not do might make good recommendations if their personnel was thoroughly trained in railroad management. Decisions that are made by men who are not trained in railroad operation may be either fortunate or unfortunate. The likelihood is that they will be unfortunate. The roads are required to attempt to lift themselves out of the slump that hit them, and from which they have not yet recovered, and, in lifting themselves, strain the straps by which they have been bound by legislative enactments.

There is hope for the future of the railroads in the proposed merger of several roads into one system. This has already been accomplished in England, where all the roads have been brought together into four compact systems with a vast saving in the cost of operation. What the public wants is better service and the public ought not to consider itself qualified to advise the roads as to how they are to organize to yield better service. If railroad management is unequal to the task of so reorganizing the roads that they will better serve the nation, it is not to be expected that those who may have certain petty theories, which are often impractical, will bring them to a high standard of efficiency.

The railroads are recommending a reduction of freight rates which will save the Northwest millions of dollars. They are attempting to provide adequate equipment to handle commodities at all seasons of the year, even when the demand upon them is heaviest. It therefore looks as though the railroads would come out of their slump if they are given the liberty to handle their own affairs with the minimum of interference from the outside.

In time the public will see that anything that hinders the efficient operation of the railroads is a disadvantage not only to the roads themselves but to the public as well, that theories do not run trains, and that interference from outside which prevents the railroads from doing what they believe would benefit themselves and the public is an all-round disadvantage.

SENATOR E. F. LADD is going to Russia with a party whose expenses will be paid by the Russian government. But if Senator Ladd sees only what those in power wish him to see he won't be a much wiser lad when he comes back.

If the amount of work a man does is to be measured by the callouses on his hands, Ignaz Friedman is a toiler. He got his callouses from playing the piano and would not be classed as a worker by some men.

AMERICA seems to be founded on a sea of oil. If our Water and Light board had gone deeper we might have been drinking oil instead of water. Who would want to?

THE Pan Motor company expects to reorganize, and with a new name to hide its identity it may pan out in the end.

WITH blizzards all around, Northern Minnesota enjoys weather that is reasonable and respectable.

WOODLOT IS OF GREAT VALUE

Many Farmers in This Section Now Managing Same According to Forestry Principles

EXPERT GIVES OUT INTERVIEW

Timber May Well be Called a Crop That Never Fails, Said K. J. Braden

"A surprising number of farmers in this section are now managing their woodlots according to forestry principles," says K. J. Braden, of the United States Department of Agriculture, who has been conferring with County Agent E. G. Roth in regard to establishing demonstration woodlots in Crow Wing county.

"The necessity of finding profitable work during the winter season, combined with the good prices offered for timber, have forced a realization of the importance of the farm woodlot in maintaining a good income," Mr. Braden continued.

Timber may well be called the "crop that never fails". It requires no land clearing, plowing, fertilizing, spraying or farm machinery. Unlike annual crops, it may remain unharvested during a period of poor prices, and instead of rotting in the ground it will increase in value.

Higher freight rates increase the value of timber in proportion to the value of coal, while lowering the prices on all other products of the farm.

Jack pine, which occurs extensively around Brainerd, is almost an ideal tree for forest management, says Mr. Braden. It produces itself more aggressively than any other of the evergreen species, and grows faster than any other tree on this type of soil.

A growing stand of jack pine will produce permanently about two-thirds of a cord per year on each acre, without reducing the amount of standing timber. At present prices, a hundred acres of jack pine will return to the owner about $400 each winter, if only the annual growth is cut.

The management of jack pine woodlots is simple. Mr. Braden's instructions are in brief, to keep out the fires, and cut the trees when they reach a suitable size for cordwood. Nature will do the rest. Every fire that runs over the land damages the soil, until at last it reaches a sterile condition that prevents all tree growth. For this reason, it is essential to keep out all fires, as even a light ground blaze is harmful.

At present prices of jack pine cordwood and hard coal, jack pine is considered the equal of coal, dollar for dollar, and has the advantage of quick ignition. The heating value of seasoned wood is greater than that of green wood, as in burning green wood, much of the heat produced goes to dry out the moisture contained therein.

FUNERAL ON SATURDAY

Evald W. Paulson, 40 Years Resident of Brainerd, Left 4 Sons and Daughter

Evald W. Paulson, age 70, died Tuesday, March 6, at his home in West Brainerd from heart trouble. He leaves four sons and a daughter, being L. E. Paulson of Ashland, Wis., Wilmer R. Paulson of St. Paul, Norman Paulson of Havre, Montana, Harry Paulson of the Argentine, South America, and Mrs. John Hansman of St. Paul.

He lived in Brainerd the past 40 years and for many years exercised his calling as a bricklayer and contractor, later taking up farming. His wife preceded him to her reward 22 years ago.

He was a member of the Norwegian Lutheran church. In later years he had lived a very retired life.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Whitney chapel, Rev. Fred Erickson officiating. A son and daughter are here now and other relatives are expected by Saturday.

Post Goes on Record Favoring Movement to Have Buglers on Cemetery Duty in France

Plans were put under way at the regular meeting of the American Legion on Monday evening, for suitably observing Memorial Day this year. A committee was appointed which will work with other organizations with the idea of engaging an out-of-town speaker, if possible, and render an appropriate program in conjunction.

It is felt that this work must be started at once, so that exceptionally good exercises may be provided which will be long remembered for their respect to those who lost their lives for their country.

The Legion went on record as endorsing the movement to have a bugler stationed in each of the American cemeteries in France instead of spending the same money for erecting large monuments to the boys who died and are buried overseas.

The movement is national in its scope, it being planned that the best buglers in the United States Army serve for this cemetery duty, each putting in a year of his army life there. The local post framed resolutions embodying their endorsement and forwarded it to headquarters.

Walter Cleary reported on the Lincoln Day banquet at which the G. A. R., Spanish War Veterans and the Ladies' Auxiliaries were honored. Mr. Cleary was thanked by the commander for his good work as chairman in charge of this very successful affair.

The membership campaign was initiated, the Legion boys placed on two competing teams, with Earl O'Brien heading one and A. A. Englund the other. The losing team is to make all arrangements for a dance and refreshments at the next regular meeting.

After the business session the entertainment committee staged an automobile race on the floor of the hall. Those in the pits supplied the automobile which lost the race, and as a penalty were required to act on K. P. duty throughout the balance of the meeting.

Commander Arthur Lyndon, and Earl O'Brien gave a marvelous exhibition of stic ability, boxing and dancing to music, with Walter Cleary at the piano.

The social part of the evening closed with a feed in which the refreshment committee did themselves proud.

Tom Verkennes Charged with Grand Larceny in 2nd Degree, Bound
Over to Grand Jury

In municipal court Friday morning, Tom Verkennes charged with grand larceny in the second degree, was given a preliminary hearing and bound over to the grand jury at the May term of district court.

Under this charge it is alleged that Verkennes took several tons of coal from a gondola car on the N. P. Railway property. The coal was found in his possession and returned to the Northern Pacific. Bond was fixed in this case at $500 or in default, the defendant is committed to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury.

A similar charge of larceny in the second degree against Verkennes will be given a preliminary hearing on next Wednesday morning in municipal court. This charges the defendant with taking a long list of tools from the Railway property, and belonging to the company.

Gustav Halvorson is attorney for Verkennes and County Attorney Walter P. Wieland is prosecuting the state's case.

On a charge of maintaining a nuisance in having an amount of liquor in his possession, Verkennes was fined $100 or ninety days in the city jail. He is serving the time.

V. E. Linke, charged with larceny in the third degree, was found guilty and fined $5. The complaint was made by Wm. Larrabee of the Ideal hotel, who charged that Linke appropriated a cribbage board.

BILLIARD PARLOR IN REAR

Manager James Koukis Says his Chef
Will Arrive From Cities
Friday Night

Improvements and alterations are practically finished at Koukis Brothers establishment, 610 Front Street.

The Cosmo Billiard Parlor occupies the rear section of the premises, and the front part has been remodeled and turned into a first class cafe, a glass partition separating the two.

By the new arrangement, a long lunch counter takes up the east side of the room, with the range near the window, where the patrons may see just what is going into their meal as it is being prepared.

A novel feature of the restaurant equipment is the refrigerator and showcase combined which occupies the window within easy reach of the chef while standing at the range. A large suction fan connected with an overhead device carries away all odors from the cooking.

James Koukis, the manager, states that his chef from the cities will arrive Friday night, and he hopes to open his cafe on Saturday. Whether or not he can do this depends on the arrival of the only piece of equipment not installed, the steam table. Regular meals will be served, as in all restaurants, at the breakfast, dinner and supper hours, but short orders and lunches may be had at any time.

All of the interior of the building has been redecorated, F. H. McCaffrey being in charge of this work. The soft drink counter, tobacco and cigar cases occupy the west side of the lunch room, with larger stocks than were heretofore carried.

TUNNEY MODEL CHAMP, SAYS FARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, March 9.—Gene Tunney, of all the ring champions, personifies best that type of character and citizenship that his profession would have as its ideal representative.

The American light heavyweight champion is a real credit to a game that needs a lot of Tunneys, to be able to hold its head up in polite society.

From a standpoint of pure Americanism, the first question of the test goes back to 1917 and puts itself in the words—"What did he do?"

Tunney did his with the marines as a volunteer. He is a product of the A. E. F. and a credit to it.

He plugged through the ranks and fought his way to the light heavy-weight championship of the allied armies and when he stepped out of his uniform, he kept plugging along the same way until he won the American title.

His hands went bad on him and he lost the title, but he kept on trying and now he is back as the champion again. Only Ketchel, Britton, Herman and Lynch had staged a championship comeback before Tunney.

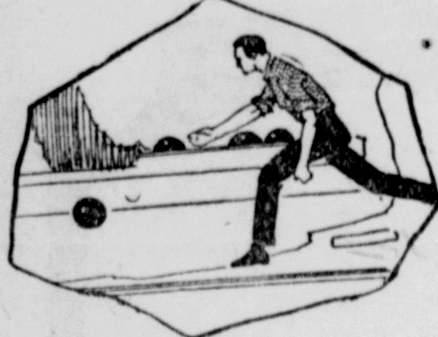

Clean in the ring and clean out of it, Tunney should be champion for a long while and he deserves every cent he can make out of his position.

He gets now the chance to make a fortune that Bob Martin blew. Martin, as the pride of the A. E. F., had no limit to his opportunities but he didn't like to go to bed early and he went the way that hundreds went before him.

Under the guidance of Billy Gibson, as good a manager and as fine a fellow as there is in the business, Tunney should not have difficulty in avoiding the traps.

For the good of the game that he is in, Gene Tunney ought to be the champion as long as he wants to be.

AMUSEMENTS

Daredevil Riders Give Riding Crop To Madge Bellamy
Madge Bellamy, who plays the lead in Thomas H. Ince's hilarious screen version of "The Hottentot", has been presented with a silver-tipped riding crop by the "suicide troupe," a group of eighteen riders who appeared with disastrous results in the spectacular steeplechase in the picture.

Miss Bellamy does some clever riding in the film and manages to stay on all the time, which is more than the eighteen could achieve when they went over the jumps in the steeplechase. Besides an eighteen-foot water jump, the course, which was specially prepared by experts for the film picture, included twenty-three other jumps over fences, hedges, stone walls and artificial barriers.

"The Hottentot", written by Willie Collier and Victor Mapes, was Collier's greatest stage success. It tells the hilariously funny story of a yachtman, terrified of horses, who is mistaken for a famous steeplechaser of the same name and finally forced to ride in a breakneck race. It will be shown at the New Park on Saturday and Sunday.

TUNNEY MODEL CHAMP, SAYS FARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, March 9.—Gene Tunney, of all the ring champions, personifies best that type of character and citizenship that his profession would have as its ideal representative.

The American light heavyweight champion is a real credit to a game that needs a lot of Tunneys, to be able to hold its head up in polite society.

From a standpoint of pure Americanism, the first question of the test goes back to 1917 and puts itself in the words—"What did he do?"

Tunney did his with the marines as a volunteer. He is a product of the A. E. F. and a credit to it.

He plugged through the ranks and fought his way to the light heavy-weight championship of the allied armies and when he stepped out of his uniform, he kept plugging along the same way until he won the American title.

His hands went bad on him and he lost the title, but he kept on trying and now he is back as the champion again. Only Ketchel, Britton, Herman and Lynch had staged a championship comeback before Tunney.

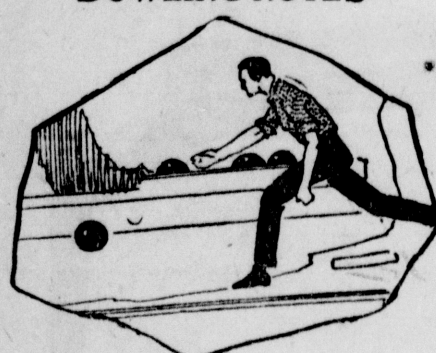

Clean in the ring and clean out of it, Tunney should be champion for a long while and he deserves every cent he can make out of his position.

He gets now the chance to make a fortune that Bob Martin blew. Martin, as the pride of the A. E. F., had no limit to his opportunities but he didn't like to go to bed early and he went the way that hundreds went before him.

Under the guidance of Billy Gibson, as good a manager and as fine a fellow as there is in the business, Tunney should not have difficulty in avoiding the traps.

For the good of the game that he is in, Gene Tunney ought to be the champion as long as he wants to be.

SUPERIOR GOLF CLUB TO LIMIT MEMBERSHIP

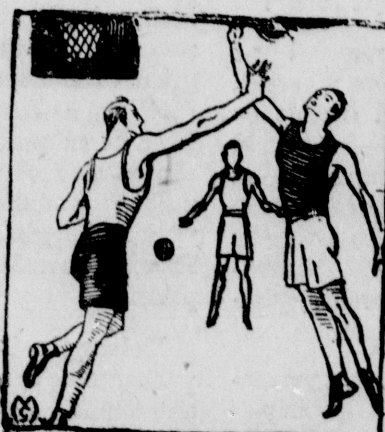

Superior, March 8.—The Superior Golf club drive for new members will be limited to 200. At a meeting it was decided that each of the 200 present members should bring one new member into the club.

When the 300 mark is reached the fee is to be raised. Bill Clark, professional at the club, gave a talk in which he stated that the 18 hole course could be in condition for playing early this spring. Tentative plans have already been drawn for the new clubhouse to be built as soon as the drive is completed. It will be located on the Superior side. The annual meeting to elect officers will take place April 10.

SPRANDEL BREAKS ANKLE DURING GAME

Walter Sprandel of Little Falls, student at Carleton college and member of the Carleton basketball quint, had the misfortune to break his ankle in a fall during the Carleton-St. Thomas game Tuesday night at Northfield. Carleton won the game, the score being 39 to 25. Warren Sims also played the game with Carleton. He and Sprandel were each credited with two baskets. A Twin City paper said: "Sprandel, for two-thirds of the first half the offensive star for Carleton, slipped and suffered a broken ankle, and for the remainder of the half Carleton was slowed up considerably."

While the field this year is to be limited to 32 teams, especial efforts have been made to match leaders of widely separated sections, so that the finals will show the most representative teams of schoolboys in the country.

RAY TIES RECORD AND GETS REVENGE

New York, March 9.—Joie Ray of Chicago has evened up matters with his most prominent rival on the track, Willie Ritola of New York. Ray set a new world's record of 14.54 for the 5,000 metre run in defeating Ritola here.

Last week Ritola beat Ray in a three mile run.

Ray let Ritola set the pace last night until the last 220 yards. Then the Chicagoan went to the front and did the furlong in the fast time of 24 2-5 seconds, winning by 30 yards.

AMUSEMENTS

Daredevil Riders Give Riding Crop To Madge Bellamy

Madge Bellamy, who plays the lead in Thomas H. Ince's hilarious screen version of "The Hottentot", has been presented with a silver-

tipped riding crop by the "suicide troupe," a group of eighteen riders who appeared with disastrous results in the spectacular steeplechase in the picture.

Miss Bellamy does some clever riding in the film and manages to stay on all the time, which is more than the eighteen could achieve when they went over the jumps in the steeplechase. Besides an eighteen-foot water jump, the course, which was specially prepared by experts for the film picture, included twenty-three other jumps over fences, hedges, stone walls and artificial barriers.

"The Hottentot", written by Willie Collier and Victor Mapes, was Collier's greatest stage success. It tells the hilariously funny story of a yachtman, terrified of horses, who is mistaken for a famous steeplechase rider of the same name and finally forced to ride in a breakneck race. It will be shown at the New Park on Saturday and Sunday.

Bessie Love at Lyceum Tonight in Thrilling Western

Although one of the younger actresses on the screen, Bessie Love is one of the oldest in point of years of association with motion-pictures.

Miss Love, the "princess charming of the films," as she has been called by critics, is appearing in "Penny of Top Hill Trail", a Western drama, which is showing at the Lyceum tonight and Saturday.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT, IS FIERY, ITCHY OR ROUGH, USE SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation made into a pleasant cold cream, such a quick relief, even the fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.—Advt.

MERCHANT FINANCIAL WRECK

"I am a financial wreck because of the expense of doctors and medicine for my wife. She has been a chronic sufferer for 10 years. Some pronounced it gall stones, some gastric and some intestinal inflammation I happened to read an ad of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and from the first dose my wife has steadily improved." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and all leading druggists.

Indigestion Unchecked Leads to Poisoning!

If you suffer from indigestion it is a sure sign that your system is being slowly poisoned by the fermentation in the intestines. This condition produces heartburn, choking sensations in the chest, a feeling of heaviness or drowsiness, irritability, discouragement and despondency. These symptoms call for Dr. A. W. Chase's K-L Pills, which, taken in time, will offset the poison in the system. Read what one former
